were not members of the committee, but as were there that night, to be present at Tammany Hall on occasions of interest? A.—I can't say its always the case on occasions of interest.

Mr. Hall objected, as wasting public time.

Mr. Cochrane intended to show that the assemblage there was in accordance with ordinary usage, and they had as much right there as these individuals in their committee room. He meant to say—

Mr. Hall—It has nothing to do with it, and is uttoriy irrelevant, because there had been previous riots, which the committee had passed over.

Mr. Cochrane—My learned friend mistakes the point.

Judge Beebe—I think you must confine yourself to the answer already received.

Mr. Cochrane then put his question again, thus Was it not the case that previously as large crowds as that present on that occasion assembled at Tammany Hall at the time of the meetings, or some of them, of the General Committee?

Judge Beebe—Now it must be overruled because it has been answered before. [Exception taken and noted.]

Q.—Had you seen either of those defendants anywhere that night before?

Witness—You mean the same evening?

Mr. Cochrane—Yes. A.—No.

Witness continued—Had seen some of the defendants, on other occasions before that evening, at Tammany Hall; had seen some of them there on occasions when large crowds were there—all of them except Mr. Wallace; thought he first saw him that same evening; witness had to go through the lower barroom on entering; there were numbers of people round, as usual; did not recollect the subject of general conversation among them could not say there was any great excitement about that call of the committee; it was made as to the coming election; there appeared to be a good deal of talking; did not know that there was any great excitement as to the manner of calling for the election of Inspectors.

Question repeated—evell, I suppose there was; witness could not say there was any great excitement as to the manner of calling for the election of Inspectors.

Besolved, That the Attorney General be directed to inform this House why the question pending before the Supreme Court, in relation to taxes on certain Indian reservations, has not been argued, and when it is probable the same will be argued and decided.

Mr. LOOMS offered the following, which was laid on the table:—

THE TAMMANY HALL RIOTS.

Boft Shells and Hard S(c)hells—Trial and Con-viction of Five Rioters.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS. COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Beebe and Aldermen Brisley and Francis.

Jan. 19.—The indictment in this case, for misdemeanor, found against Stephen Wilson, John S. Austin, Fatrick Matthews, Thomas Wallace, George Schureman and Isaac Austin, for riot and assault and battery on Augustus F. Schell, in the memorable and disparceful riot on the night of the second of December, was tried yesterday. The court was densely crowded, the galleries even being filled to their utmost capacity.

EMPANSILING THE JURY.

An ample number were in attendance, and the panels eretofore summoned were unexhausted, not withstanding he challenges and excuse were not exhausted when the ary was completed.

Abraham Bogardus, Eighth ward, called and answered, is a questioned by Mr. Cochrane, counsel for the defending, as to what he had heard of the matter, and whether e had formed any opinion. His answers being satisfactry, he was sworn.

John Kelly, Fifth ward, was questioned, with the same result.

Mr. Phillips—I am stating facts: there was great recklesaness.

Cross-examined—Came through the large bar room, up stairs; there were a number of people on the stairs; did not look upon it as any more than an ordinary assemblage at the time; it did not appear when he came in first, there was any great excitement, but it soon become manifest; the barroom below was crowded; had no difficulty in getting in, it was in getting out. Mr. Schell took the chair ten or fifteen minutes after the organization; did not, as he passed, hear the conversation; there was nothing to attract his attention; gathered up his papera, and was assisted out by some friendly members of the committee, and thought discretion, in such a case, the better part of valor.

Augustus F. Schell sworn—Corroborated Mr. Phillips' and Alderman Barr's evidence, as to Austin's entrance and conduct; the first act of the crowd was to overturn the table, and as they advanced I received a blow over my left brow; this is the scar (shows it to the Gourt and jury); I did not see who it was that struck me: the blow was a very severe one, and I must have warded it off, as my arm was severely injured and broken: I do not know whether I lost my consciousness for a time, but the next object I saw was a chair borne towards me to strike me again; I was scated! I took my seat again after sending committee for the police.

Frederick A. Bidabock sworn—Was a member of last year's Democratic General Committee on the night of the 2d December a man named Patrick Matthews touched me on the shoulder, and said I had better not go in, for I would get licked; I asked him by whom; he said he had heard a conversation in the Park, that 'if I went in I would get licked; 'I asked him by whom; he said he had near a conversation and was the same men on the balcony of Tammany Hall, on the Frankfort street side. Direct resumed—What was the same men on the balcony of Tammany Hall, on the Frankfort street side. Brect resumed—What was the same men on the balcony of Tammany Hall, on the Frank cry, he was sworn.

John Kelly, Fifth ward, was questioned, with the same result.

William Dougherty was challenged peremptorily on behalf of John S. Austin.

John Fritz wag challenged for cause, and, by consent, was tried by the Court, who pronounced him a competent quor. He was thereupon challenged peremptorily on behalf of Stephen Wilson, and Mr. Cochrane requested the clerk might note the distinction.

Mr. A. O. Hall, Assistant District Attorney, said a point appeared to arise here, which, perhaps, had better be settled and understood. Where five or six defendants are impleaded and tried together, he apprehended they were only entitled together to the prescribed number of peremptory challenges—in this instance five, the indictment being for a misdemeanor—and not five for each defendant.

The presiding Judge thought it unnecessary to pass upon unless the challenges should be exhausted, when it might arise, and the process of empanelling proceeded.

Exc. C. King, Eighteenth ward, answering, was, as were all in succession, questioned in a similar manner for the defence. There being no objection, he was sworn.

Joseph Orr. Ninth ward, the like.

John K. Copperthwaite, Fourth ward, the like.

James M. Taylor, Stateenth ward, the like.

James Kelly, First ward, was questioned, and denied all knowledge or prejudice, but was challenged peremptorily for John S. Austin.

Warren A. Griffin, Seventh ward, the like.

Edmond A. Thorp, Sixteenth ward, the like.

Fredgrick W. Downer, Eighteenth ward, the like.

John Kirscher had heard a good deal about it; could not cell from whom. Set ashle by consent.

Less C. Liebermuth, Eleventh ward, had formed an opinion, and the Court said counsel might challenge him for cause: but he availed himself of his other privilege and challenged the juror peremptorily on behalf of Stephen Wilson.

Wilson. Issac Anderson, Seventeenth ward, was, at his own request, excused.
William Miller, Eighteenth ward, had formed an opinion and still retained it; challenged for cause, and challenge allowed by the Court.

Michael Galligan, challenged peremptorily on behalf of fichiel Gaingan, trick Matthews.

John F. Waiter, set aside by consent; his knowledge of a Raglish language being imperfect.

Joel Lane, Fifteenth ward, had formed an opinion side he had still retained; challenged, and cause ald. dediah F. Adams, Sixteenth ward, having never of or read anything about it, was deemed fully competent, and sworn accordingly, thus completing the jury, Abraham Bogardus, 8th. 7. Thomas Connell, 18th.

2. John Kelly, 6th. 8. W. A. Griffin, 7th.
3. Esek C. King, 18th. 9. Zephanish Mullin, 10th.
4. Joseph Orr, 9th. 10. Edmend A. Thorp, 16th.
5. J. K. Copperthwaite, 4th. 11. F. W. Downer, 18th.
Mr. A. O. Hall opened the case very briefly, in his usually forcible but very temperate style, saying the numerous witnesses accustomed to the usages of life in court, and who were well able to give their testimony clearly, that would be called before the jury, would put them fully in possession of the facts, and reading some extracts from the books applicable to the law of riot, he first in troduced the peated cries of "Give it to the hard shells," I judged the crowd were all using such a language; when the crowd rushed in I am like Austin at the head of them; I at one time saw Becker and Austin in altercation; when the crowd came in I was in the middle of the floor; the whole crowd was torribly excited and very noisy; when the committee room door was opened I maw a crowd cusaids; shortly after John S. Austin got into the room the door was closed.

crowd was terribly excited and very noisy; when the committee room door was opened I saw a crowd outside; shortly after John S. Austin got into the room the door was closed.

John G. Phelan sworn—Knew Isaac Austin, John S. Austin, and Steve Wilson; was in the committee room at Tammany Hall on the night of the riot; I saw the rioters enter the room; saw John Austin, Wilson, and Ike Austin there; after the lights were put out I remained a few moments, and saw Sieve Wilson come out with blood on his face; the rush was made about eight o'clock; heard no talk about entering the committee room.

Cross-examined—Had known Wilson for afteen years; was in the upper barroom on this night; was there to see a man at the Brig Guard ball; first saw Wilson and John and Isaac Austin in the lower barroom; saw ten or afteen playing the game of 'wig-wag,' at the side of the stairs, (loud laughter;) this is called "Father Simon's Game," and is played for the drinks; (laughter;) Wilson played "Father Simon," John S. Austin was there, but not in the quarrel; I did not see Quinn there; I saw a large crowd of laborers there; I can't say how the fight in the barroom commenced; before the rush was made for the committee room I saw blood on Wilson's face; did not see Ike Austin in the fight; I believe the laborers interfered with "Simon's" men; it was not till after the barroom fight that I knew the General Committee was in session; I heard Quinn bluster around, and say he could lick any one in the house.

The prosecution here closed, and Mr. Cochrane opened for the defence, contending, principally, that there was no riot, and if there were, it was caused by Quinn's party, who drove the others down to the committee room.

He then called the following witnesses:—

Charles Brown deposed—He is one of the proprietors of Tammany Hall, and was so on the 2d of December last; the Brighton Guard ball was held there that night; some men came there and started as if to go up to the ballroom, but at the request of Mr. John glecker, they some one came and who were well able to give their testimony clearly, that would be called before the jury, would put them fully in possession of the facts, and, reading some extracts from the books applicable to the law of riot, he first in troduced the

Thomas J. Barr, Alderman of the Sixth ward, sworn, deposed—He was a member of the Democratic General Committee for 1852 from the Sixth ward, knew all the parties indicted except Mr. Wallace, and knew him by sight; none of them wers members of that committee; the committee's general place of meeting was at Tammany Hall, and there was one on the first Thursday in December, (the second day of the month); witness attended, and arrived about twenty-five minutes past seven; the hour of meeting was half-past; went in at the front door, and passed down stairs to the lower room; saw some of them in the course of his way down—the two Austins, Mr. Schureman, Mr. Matthews, and Mr. Wikon; thought they were in the barroom in the entry; there was a large number of people there; the committee met in a room off the lower barroom, at the south, or southeast, of the building; they organized in a minute or two after he got down stairs, by calling Mr. John A Kennedy to the chair; Mr. John S. Austin was the first of the crowd who came in he was not sure of any positive rule, but the meetings of the committee were always considered private; the book of rules produced was published, and he believed anybody could get a copy; it appeared like the one he had. [The book was not put in in evidence.]

To the Court—He had been a member four or five years. Witness continued—When Austin came in he walked up to the table and sat down; the was requested by the Chairman two or three times to leave the room, when witness went up to him.

To Mr. Cochrane—Mr. Schell was in the chair, then; Mr. Kennedy had retired before Mr. Austin came in agree, committee, he (Austin) came in quickly, and excited, as if he had pushed through a crowd; there appeared to be a cyovd outside, and a great number of people assembled, w

EVENING SESSION.

On the reassembling of the Court, the first witness call ed was:

Abraham S. Vosburgh—Was a member of General Committee in 1852: was present when the crowd came in John S. Austin, the defendant, was there before; he wa at the table, in the centre of the room; did not see him making any demonstration of acting with the crowd; a moment or two previous to the crowd breaking in he had turned, and was about leaving the room; the only one witness recognized among the crowd was John Quinn; knew John and Isaac Austin; did not see them in the crowd; the crowd were generally a very rough looking lot, working men, he would say; could not say what countrymen, whether foreigners or not; Quinn was apparently a man sixty years of age.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hall—Mr. Quinn was close to the side door; Mr. Schell was not struck, to my knowledge, before I left the room.

Captain Rynders—Was at Tammany Hall on the evening of the 2d, at a ball; he came down stairs about halfpast ten, as he should judge, for he left home at nine o'clock, and had just danced the Spanish dance, which was the fifth, and he thought an hour and a half must have elapsed after he left home; saw no game being played; saw John Quinn there; not when he first came down; the hall and staircase were crowded; he concluded the General Committee were in the "coal hole," from seeing some of the members about; Wilson was there; his head was cut, and bleeding; he (witness) came down to the lower bar room for refreshment; he heard some high words, and said jocenlarly, "The election is all over, and you'd better not fight about it now," the difference was between a man named Murphy and another; a general fight took place. [The witness gave also a long account of a barroom fight.] John Quinn came up, and some others, and said jocenlarly, "The election is all over, and you'd better not fight about after the row, and conversed with some.

Austin standing by the stairs; saw or heard nothing till next moraing.

Mr. Stephen Cornell sworn—Was a member of the committee; saw John S. Austin there that night, and he said he was a committee to invite all the General Committee to a ball, and he said it was "a G-d d——d blamed shame." and "that there was a fight outside, and they wanted to put him out where the fight was;" saw Schureman, Wallace and Wilson; it was about half-past ten o'clock.

Mr. James B. Austin came in; should judge it was about ten minutes afterwards when the crowd came in; went up stairs about three-quarters of an hour before the crowd came in; there was no fighting there then; it was all confusion in the committee room when the crowd came in, and it was hard to describe it, (laughter); he did not know the people in the crowd at all; he could only recognise John Quinn, who seemed very busy taking care of himself or somebody else, throwing his hands about, (laughter); heard them crying out "black joke;" heard nothing about "shells" at all, (more laughter); heard nothing about "shells" at all, (more laughter); heard nothing about shells at the committee last year, sworn—Was there all the time Austin, was in the room, and heard nothing about amashing heads; saw Wilson and Wallace in the crowd; say Quinn there; he was lying on the ground, (laughter); afterwards saw him on his feet in the barroors; the crowd were laboring men, and Wilson's face was streaming with blood; saw him strike one of the men that came in.

Hugh Mooney sworn—Was present at Tammany Hall, he believed; believed he came at twenty minutes after six; saw a game played by quite a number; saw Wallace and Wilson; believed they were playing; John S. Austin was not; Matthews was, he thought; Schureman was; some laborers came in with Quinn's son to the bar, and remained there drinking; witness went down stairs, and they came down with Patrick Murpby, he thought; heard no one give them any directions; saw a fight. Mr. Cochrane was going to show who were the real rioters.

The Court thought it would take longer to discuss than answer.

A discussion ensued, in which Mr. Cochrane sought to introduce evidence of internal dissentions between the "hard" and "soft shells," but it was ruled out.

Witness heard no such expression as "Kill the soft shell." Mr. Austin did not say he would go with witness because he was a magistrate, but said "Tom Barr." The gas was put out three or four minutes after the crowd came in; did not recollect seeing Austin afterwards.

Mr. Jonas B. Phillips—Was one of the secretaries of the Republican General Committee: he arrived after the meeting had been organised by Mr. Kennedy taking the chair; Mr. Austin entered the room while the meeting was deliberating, and came into the middle of the room, and said, "We are deputed a committee, though wimess had no recollection of seeing any one clee there, "to in vite you up stairs," witness was standing on the right of the chairman, at the headlof the table; Mr. Schell said, "The gentleman is not a member of the committee, and he is requested to leave the room; Mr. Austin came round to the right side, and seated himself on a chair with hat on; and Mr. Schell said again, "The gentleman is requested to leave the room, his presence here is considered an intrusion;" he showed no disposition to go at that time they heard a noise outside; as Mr. Austin would not leave the room, he appoined Mr. McIntyre, and Capt. Leonard of the Second ward Folice a committee, for the purpose of obtaining police force to protect the General Committee in their deliberation; and he thought they left the room; he was close by and heard Mr. Austin say, "It would'nt take much for me to punch your head," or "to mash your head." Q—Did you hear any one express such a purpose?

A—Murphy said if they did not carry the 5th of August, some of them would have sore heads. This was at Tammany Hall, previous to the disturbance. Did not see Murphy on the Hall of Records.

Dennis Ryer—Was there about eight o'clock; saw Quinn and a number of laboring men in the upper barroom, in the lower barroom there were a number of persons, saw the game of "wig-wag" played there, and after they had been playing some time. Patrick Murphy made some remarks and went on the steps, brought down seven or eight men, and placed them all in a row, and sat down in, a chair, and said to the men. "Now when I say go in, I want you to go in," looked at the men, and saw one take a stone out of his pea jacket pocket, and put it in again; the men that were playing got up to drink, and Murphy got into a quarrel with one of them; and agencial fight took place; they fought Mr. Austin, Mr. Wallace, and everybody; John Quinn, who had gone up back steps came down the front ones followed by his son, some one cried from direction of committee room door. "By G— they beat us;" saw Quinn brought out from the committee room senseless; when he came too, he wanted to lick any one that was opposed to him, and the committee too.

Cross examined—Was Health Inspector under the Board of Health, went with Mr. Alfred Phillips; Mr. P. was beaten also; went in by upper part; saw "wig way" played; Steve Wilson played "Father Simon;" did not hear "Father Wilson" say "go in."

Mr. Cochrane—It was "Father Quinn" said that.

Cross-examined—Isa Austin and Wallace were connected with file long them of the committee, was the last witness. His evidence threw very little new light on the facts, but some on the natural history of the hard and soft shells, for which we regret we have not space. Brooklyn City Intelligence.

Success while in a State of Temporary Insanity.—A man, named William Manning, an Englishman by birth, committed suicide about ten o'clock yesterday forenoon, by cutting his throat with a bowie knife, completely severing the windipe, and laying the neck open to the bone. He had been on a temporary visit to his brother, residing in Johnson street, between Gold and Prince, since the holidays, and shortly after his arrival was taken ill, and latterly exhibited symptoms of insanity, so that it was thought advisable to watch him constantly. Shortly before the commission of the deed, Mrs. Manning, his brother's wife, left his presence, anticipating to be absent but a few moments. On her return, she found him stretched upon the floor, weltering in his blood. It appears he lodged in the front besement, and whon left alone, proceeded to the back apartment on the same floor, where he got his knife from a chest, with which he consummated the fatal deed. Deceased was about twenty-eight years of age, a farmer by occupation, and resided in one of the Western States. An inquest was held upon the body in the afternoon by Coroner Ball, and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

DEATH FEON NELECT.—Coroner Eall held an inquest yesterday, upon the body of a child three years of age, of parents named Young, residing at No. 17 State street, which came to its death in consequence of neglect. It had been siok for several months, without receiving the attention its condition demanded. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with these facts, and the parents were placed under arrest.

at general term, and accordingly adjourned it for the the first Monday in February.

FROM THE RIO GRANDE.—A correspondent of the Nucces Valley, writing from Brownsville, on the 23d ult., says that intelligence has been received from Monterey that the revolution had been proclaimed at that place, and rumor has it that Carvajal is there, although one of his officers must be near the frontier, as news had been received that Colonel Montero, of the regular Mexican army, had been captured by him. He also says that the National Guards, who so nobly met the regulars in the streets of Matamoros, had been completely successful, for, on the 20th, Colonel Basave arrived at Matamoros with the remains of his badly cut up forces, acknowledging that he had been beaten. When Cardenas was arrested at Tula, Canales succeeded in making his escape, leaving in the hands of his pursuers his hat, sash, sword, cane, &c. What became of him was not known, but it was reported that some rancheros had murdered him. This was not believed. The correspondent of the Valley adds:—On the 19th, Avalos enlightened the world by publishing a couple of proclamations, one addressed to his troops, and the other to the people of Matamoros. The first speaks of valor, constancy, fidelity and obedience; the second tells the "dear people" that their good is all he desires, and nothing for himself. The good, kind-hearted, philanthropic soul! They have caused no effect, for they all know to what kind of music he dances.

FROM El. PASO.—The Western Texan contains a letter from El Paso, complaining bitterly of the want of protection against the Indians. The writer states that in the valley of El Paso, comprising a population of about fifteen thousand persons, there is one small station, composed of twenty dragoons, and but half of them fit for immediate service. Not only on the roads, but even in the settlements, the Indians kill the whites with perfect impunity, and animals taken in one part of the country are not unfrequently sold in another place to the very troops intended for their protection. This extensive country, including several of the Northern States of Mexico, a represented as rapidly declining in wealth and importance, on account of these depredations, which have increased since the occupation of the country by the Americans.

IMPORTANT PROM RUSSIA.—The Boston Traveller is indebted to a mercantile house of that city for the following extract from a letter just received from St. Petersburg, and dated the 21st of December:—

There is a report that the plague has entered Russia, and is prevalent at Astrachan and another place. The Emperor has ordered a military cordon of sixty or seventy thousand men to prevent its advancing further into the interior of the country. Some alarm is felt at St. Petersburg, though in former times, as in the reign of Catherine, it stopped at Moscow.

Sam Compared General, ashore at Squan beach, is having her cargo between decks taken out, a great part of it dry. If the weather holds good she may be get off, but the expense of repairs would be very heavy; she has boy. A little passeng, have got up to the city, with most on the crew, and their up. The vessel is in charge of Ca. Tilyou, agent of the uno. writers.

Sum Woodside, and re on Florida reef, was "3 tons, built in Robinston, Me, in 1839, and, with her freight poncy, was insured in New York and Boston for $35,000. The cargo was probably insured in France.

Sum Muscongues, before reported ashore below Havre, got off 28th ult, and entered the dock, without great damage.

Sum Henry, Gill, from Boston, of and for Norleans, before reported ashore near Cardeman, got upon the Cabezan. 20 miles E of Cruz del Padre, night of 20th ult. The first officer went in a fishing boat to Cardenas, and applied to the U S Consular agent for assistance. He sent the brig Parthenon, Capt Davis, to her relief; but before she argived the people from Sierra Morena had got out all the cargo that could be saved. Capt Gill and crew, with some sails and rigging, proceeded to Cardemas 3d inst, in the Parthenon. The Consular agent and Capt G left Cardenas 6th, in steamer Gegen, to look after the crew.

Bark Esperanza (new), Parritt, ashore at Squan beach, has driven upon the beach and filled. She lies bow on, in about two feet water at low tide, but buried five feet in the sand. The E is 310 tons, built at Perry, Me, and only out about 60 hours at the time she went ashore.

Bark Esgeranza (new), Parritt, ashore at Squan beach, has driven upon the beach and filled. She lies bow on, in about two feet water at low tide, but buried five feet in the sand. The E is 310 tons, built at Perry, Me, and only out about 60 hours at the time she went ashore.

outer marine telegraph at Boston 18th, to be ashore on Lovell's Island.

BARK G B WAIKER (new), from Brooksville, Me, for Portland, went into Provincetown buy on Friday, and anchored in five fathoms water off the Brewster shore. On Saturday morning, supposing she was ashore on the shoal ground of Wellfleet, assistance was sent from P, and two men were left on board to assist in taking her into that harbor; but as it has blown very hard from NW for two days, she will probably not get under weigh until it moderates. She leaks badly.

BRIG CANTON, Crowell, from Boston, reached Philadelphia 19th, after a passage of 25 days. When 20 miles to the northward of Cape May she encountered a violent gale from NE; at 2 A M on the 4th hove to for six hours, at the end of which time the brig was thrown on her beamends, and so remained for three hours before the erew succeeded in getting her before the wind. She then seudded S for 24 hours, and was detained 13 days S of Cape Henlopen by a succession of gales from the North. While going before the wind, in lat 35 50, lon 75 48, saw a bark and schr lying on their beamends; the former was under bare poles, and the latter's jibboom and foretoomast were gone, with fore and mainsails hanging in the water. The sea ran so high that the captain could not make out either of their names, or see any persons on board.

BRIG RUSSIAN (of Belfast), Veazle, from Havana for Caimito, which was ashore on Punta Piedras, got off after throwing over 1200 sugar boxes, and arrived at Caimito Brich William, Furlong, from Prince Edward Island for Boston, with 2480 bushels oats, which went ashore at Pirate Cove in December, was condemned and sold 24th ult. Her oats sold for 1s per bushel, and the hull, after being stripped, brought £66. It is said it would have brought more, but for the difficulty apprehended in obtaining a new register. She was before reported bound to New York.

Schr Gins Cremko, of and from Newburyport 7th inst, for Baltimore, weather thick and blowing fresh, struck on Absecom beach, three miles from Great Egg Harbor, 18th, 5 A M, and at last accounts was fast in the sand, the sea making a complete breach over her.
